

Dean's Mid-Career Manuscript Workshops

Application Deadline –Monday, January 28, 2019

The purpose of the one-day manuscript workshop is to provide mid-career UCI Humanities faculty with substantive and constructive feedback from scholars in the field on a substantial draft of a second book manuscript in preparation for submission to a publisher for a contract or for publication. The grant is intended to fund travel expenses, lodging and honoraria for 2-3 invited scholars, as well as meals and refreshments during the workshop. The workshop itself is limited to the faculty member, invited scholars, and up to 2 other guests whom the faculty member would like to include. Faculty recipients must be prepared to submit a substantial draft of a book manuscript two months before the workshop (e.g., September 15, 2019, for a November 15, 2019 workshop).

Eligibility: Academic Senate faculty with an appointment in the UCI School of Humanities at Associate Level III to Associate Level V who are currently completing their second book project.

Timeline:

- Notifications by March 1, 2019.
- Manuscript workshop will be held in Fall 2019.

Logistics and Grant Award: The Humanities Commons will provide staff support and logistics for the manuscript workshops and handle all expenses related to the workshop.

Submission

Applications must be submitted electronically by Monday, January 28, 11:00 pm, through EEE Scout.

Log into the application form on EEE Scout: <https://scout.eee.uci.edu/s/mid-career-manuscript-2019>

Complete the online application form with the following information:

- Name, Department and Year promoted to associate professor
- Names and affiliations of 5-6 proposed scholars and editors from California and the United States and their contact information, with the aim of bringing to campus 2-3 invited scholars for the workshop

Upload a single PDF with a narrative description of the second book project (1,000-2,000 words), a timeline indicating what has been written and what will be submitted for discussion, and plans for publication (any initial contacts with a publisher, preliminary contract, etc.).

Click "Save" to save your submission and review or complete at a later date.

Once you have completed your online application form, click "Submit Responses" to submit the application. Application forms cannot be changed once they have been submitted.

EEE Scout does not send an email confirmation. Go to <https://scout.eee/uci.edu> and click on "Review My Submissions." The form should show as submitted (not saved) in this list.
